80 LOST IN BRIDGE COLLAPSE AT KELSO, WASH.

FRAME STRUCTURE PLUNGES INTO RUSHING WATER, CARRYING AT LEAST
150 PEOPLE INTO COWLITZ RIVER

Only a Checking Up of Those Who Are Reported

Casualties in Tragedy To Be Given Out

TEN AUTOMOBILES DROPPED THROUGH

Kelso, Wash., Jan. 4.—Eighty lives may have been lost when the Kelso bridge collapsed late yesterday, authorities stated today. It will be impossible to determine the exact casualties as there is no way of telling how many persons were on the bridge when the cable snapped and the great structure lurched into the turbulent waters of the Cowlitz River.

Witnesses agreed that the number on the bridge was approximately one hundred and fifty, although some thought higher.

Forty are known to have been rescued.

Kelso, Wash., Jan. 4.—Divers worked in the rushing waters of the Cowlitz River today to recover the bodies of eighty or more persons believed killed when the Kelso suspension bridge collapsed.

It is known to be missing, eye witnesses declared at least four scores more were either drowned or killed when the bridge buckled. No bodies had been recovered at first report this morning. Eight men were rescued and rushed to a hospital where they are reported in a serious condition.

Great fires burned on the banks and threw a weird light over the turbulent waters and the tangled timber of the bridge. Groups of men and women, carrying lanterns for a mile or two below the bridge searching for bodies. Launches and river steamers worked with grappling hooks and dredges in an effort to recover bodies.

More than one hundred and fifty people were on the bridge when it collapsed. Ten or more automobiles were known to have gone down. The bridge crashed without warning as workers on the Longview Hotel were returning to their homes.

TURKEY MOBILIZES ALL ABLE-BODIED MEN FOR CONFLICT

Constantinople, Jan. 4.—Turkey today called to the colors all able-bodied men in the so-called liberated territories of the Near East.

The Ankara Government issued a mobilization decree. After waiting three days for word from Lausanne as to the Allies' intention, the Kemalists answered Greek mobilization and he British fleet movement with a war like gesture of their own.

With everything depending upon Lausanne, the conference there remained inactive, awaiting the Paris Premier parley-on-reparation.

Panama Canal Tonnage Breaks Record For Year. 2,814 Vessels Using It

Panama, Jan. 4.—Passage of 2,997 ship, through the Panama Canal in the calendar year 1922 established a new high record. In 1921 the best previous year, 2814 vessels used the waterway. Tolls collected in 1922 aggregated $12,573,407, so that, for the first time since the opening of the canal, the monthly average exceeded $1,000,000.

The net tonnage of commercial ships was approximately 12,085,000 tons, cargo carried approximately 13,700,000 tons. The previous high water mark for tonnage was 11,137,511 and for cargo 11,599,214.

WONER ACT UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA

STRENGTHENS ACT

Philadelphia, Jan. 3.—The right of the Legislature to include in the prohibition enforcement law a clause automatically defining intoxicating liquors as "anything found and determined from time to time to be intoxicating by act of Congress, as least until the national law is changed, was upheld in an opinion written by Chief Justice Robert von Moschzisker and handed down by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court today.

The decision was made in the case of William Alderman, who sentenced on conviction of possessing and transporting intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, attacking the constitutionality of certain sections of the Woner Act in an appeal from the judgment of the Superior Court which had affirmed the judgment of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford county.

Another section of the Woner Act, which imposes penalties, attacked by the appellant on the grounds that it provided for heavier penalties than those specified in the Volstead Act, also was upheld by the court.

Argument For Validity

"If, by comparison with the Federal law, the ordained penalties were so manifestly inadequate as to be open to the charge that they really could not have been intended as deterrents, perhaps an argument would lie against their validity but not where, as here, the state's punishments are even harsher than those fixed by Congress," wrote the Chief Justice, who referred to an opinion handed down by Chief Justice William Howard Taft of the United States Supreme Court.

In the appeal, the constitutionality of the first section of the Woner act, which defines intoxicating liquors as "anything found and determined from time to time to be intoxicating by act of Congress passed pursuant to, and in the enforcement of the Constitution of the United States" on the grounds that the section was an attempt to delegate to the Federal government power vested solely in the State Legislature and to write into the code

J. S. Hoyt, Prominent Farmer, Passed Away Suddenly Last Evening

J. Sumner Hoyt, one of the progressive and substantial farmers of Lawrence township, died suddenly at his residence on the Boynton farm near Wright's, about 7:30 o'clock last evening. Mr. Hoyt was about the house and barn all day as usual but when he came into the house after feeding his stock for the evening complained of not feeling as well as usual.

He sat down to the table and ate his supper. At the conclusion of the meal he lay down on the sofa in the living room and about the time stated he was found by Mrs. Hoyt to be seriously ill and passed away before anything could be done for him. His death was due to heart trouble.

J. S. Hoyt was a native of Lawrence township and had a wide acquaintance throughout the county. He served as Steward at the County Home for a number of years and upon his retirement from that position about five or six years ago purchased the Boynton farm on the "Heartfield-Curwenville" highway and had since resided there. He was a fine man and his sudden taking away will be sincerely mourned by a wide circle of friends.

He was 66 years of age and is survived by his widow and large family of children. The funeral will be held from his late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FRATERNAL ORDER OF EAGLES WOULD REPLACE POOR HOUSE WITH PENSIONS FOR THE AGED AND THE WORN WORKER

Judge O'Donnell of Kansas
City Makes a Masterly Presentation of Eagles' Program
At Public Meeting.

REVIEWS F. O. E. HISTORY

Judge Thomas H. O'Donnell, of Kansas City, a big-framed, big-voiced, big man out of the big breezy west, talked to a couple of hundred interested men and women at the Globe Theatre last evening, under the auspices of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, on the great service to humanity already performed by this great American patriotic fraternity while outlining the program for the future which the more than 500,000 members have in mind.

Judge O'Donnell, a forceful speaker, is a typical Irishman, possessing all the outstanding characteristics of the old school Celtic orator, who wove his blarney, pathos and poetry into his address with a master tongue and kept the closest attention of his audience from opening sentence to the closing tribute to our town, her people and old Pennsylvania generally.

The speaker, who was one of the original members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and therefore familiar and exceptionally well informed as to every detail of its history, told of the idea from which it sprang and the many worth-while accomplishments in its efforts to make this old world a better place in which to live and said their aim and mission at this time was to make possible in this glorious country of ours an old age pension system, instead of the wholly unsatisfactory poor house plan as at present. Judge O'Donnell made many telling points in favor of the old age pension plan for taking care of the worker who had done his bit and been shelled by old Father Time when his working days were done.

A resume of Judge O'Donnell's history and achievements of the F. O. E. will conclude this story.

The meeting at the Globe was presided over by Bro. John F. Short, of Pittsburgh Aerie, who also introduced the speaker of the evening, an old acquaintance and friend.

The program was opened by an overture on the piano by Mrs. Joseph Turner. A male quartet consisting of Messrs. Joseph E. Phillips, Joseph Patrick and Harry Turner, also favored with several fine selections during the evening, while Joseph Turner and the Misses Mohny, of East Erie, also sang very finely and were most generously encored.

The speech making was opened by State Deputy J. P. Daugherty, of Du Bois, who gave a very interesting and minute talk on what the F. O. E. had accomplished, together with an announcement as to their duty in the future.

The inclement weather interfered somewhat with the attendance at the meeting, but those present were well paid for their trouble.

Judge O'Donnell during his address gave the following facts and figures concerning the Eagles:

"The Fraternal Order of Eagles is now in its healthy, helpful existence to find itself stronger in numbers than it has ever been in its history, in its financial, status, stronger in the good will of the communities which it strives to serve."

"It had its beginning in Seattle Washington, in a group of about a dozen men who had banded together for companionship and mutual helpfulness. That little group has since become what is known as the Mother Aerie, numbering today approximately 7,000 members. This human desire which held together the original group has become the inspiring motive of the half-million men who are now members of the Order."

"Patriotism led the founder of the fraternity to adopt the name, 'Eagles' after the 'Proud Bird of Our Country.' Naturally, the principles in which the members gathered were named Aeries—that is, Eagles' nests. The complete organization consists of subordinate aeries, or local societies, State Aeries having geographical jurisdiction, and a grand aerie, which embraces the entire Order."

"Although membership is confined to men, the benefits of the 'Fraternal life of the fraternity are extended in many ways to include the wives, mothers and children, and even the friends of members. It is the fathers, mothers, wives, children and sweethearts of the members, indeed, who often set the chief story by the benefits and the recreations afforded in membership in the F. O. E. A very important benefit is the sick benefits which keeps the wife away when the member is disabled from working through illness or accident. If the member should die, there is a substantial funeral benefit. The fund from which these benefits are paid, by a law of the order is made absolutely inalienable for any other purpose."

These services the Eagles render to the member and his family individually. They have a further service which they render to the community. They make it a practice to back actively any social welfare movement which it is seen would eventuate in benefit to society generally. The broader community service in which the Eagles takes keen pleasure has manifested itself to date in the enactment in all strong Eagle communities of mothers' pension laws, laws providing for workmen's compensation for industrial disease and accident, and laws restricting child labor and establishing minimum wages and maximum hours for women and minors.

"The crowning achievement of this order in its role as social benefactor, however, bids fair to be the early adoption in the strong Eagle States of laws establishing pensions for those who have toiled their due and yet found themselves at sixty

BANDITS WHO SHOT PAYMASTER DENNIS FINALLY CAPTURED

3 Witnesses to Hold-up and Movements of Men, Pick Them Out
of Jail Line-up.

PICKED FROM SIX

Pittsburg, Jan. 4.—James Burkiant, of Fredericktown, Daniel Rastelli, of Avella and James Dugan of Besco yesterday were identified as members of the gang of highwaymen which held up the pay car of the Pittsburg Coal Company December 23, shot and killed J. R. Dennis, a guard, and stole the $20,000 Christmas payroll.

The identification was made in Allegheny county jail by James Underwood, driver of the pay car; Anna Rabson, aged 13, of Beading, and John Housley of Woodville. They picked Burkiant, Rastelli and Dugan out of a group of men lined up in the jail office. Six other persons who saw the robbers were called into the office, but were unable to positively identify any of the three suspects.

Mr. Underwood was sure Dugan and Rastelli were among the robbers but did not know Burkiant. Anna Rabson picked out Dugan and Rastelli as the men she saw waiting in an automobile in Beading road shortly before the holdup. Mr. Housley identified Burkiant as the driver of an automobile believed to have been the highwaymen's car, which was parked in Cedarhurst boulevard.

An attempt will be made today to identify an automobile owned by Burkiant, which is believed by the police to have been used in the escape after the holdup. The car was brought yesterday by state police from Fredericktown, where it was confiscated.

PINCHOT BUDGET TO BE HANDED TO THE LEGISLATURE FEB. 1

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—Gifford Pinchot will submit the 1923 budget to the Legislature before February 1st and put the whole policy of keeping the State's finances on a business basis squarely up to the General Assembly, it was revealed authoritatively here today.

Pinchot was here in his old offices in the Forestry Department conferring with Department heads today.

Hewing to the line of his announced intention of "compressing clouds into cotton bales," the budget being drafted now will be given to the Legislature at an unprecedentedly early date, probably before February 1st, it was said, instead of being delayed until the closing day of the session.

MINER KILLED AT ROLLING STONE BY HEAVY ROCK FALL

P. R. Fohner aged about 35 years was caught under a rock fall at the Harrington mine at Mowery or Rolling Stone day before yesterday and fellow workman by working night and day since that time located the man's dead body and brought it to the surface about 5 o'clock this morning.

Fohner lived near the mine with his wife and four children and when he failed to come home to supper Tuesday evening his wife notified his fellow miners who immediately returned to the mine. When they neared the part of the workings where Fohner had been employed they found his coat and dinner bucket and a few feet beyond discovered a fall extending back for more than twenty feet.

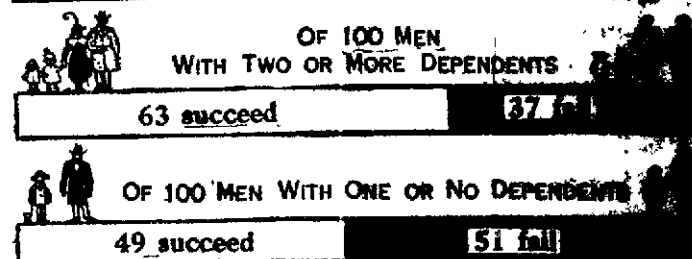

It was thought that the miner might be beyond the fall and unhurt and strenuous efforts were made by his fellow workers to clear away the debris and get him. They worked by shifts night and day until this morning about 3 o'clock Fohner's dead body was found beneath the tons of coal and rock. A large piece of rock had struck his head in falling and it is believed he had been instantly killed.

Pays Income Tax on Beauty

Maybell Griffen, Baltimore beauty, has been asked by the United States to pay an income tax on her beauty, according to news dispatches. The income tax is being levied on a $500-beauty prize and a gown worth $1000 given to her by a Baltimore department store. She contends that the dress was a gift. Authorities say it was something earned by capitalized beauty.

Children Are Assets in Life, Insurance Statistics Prove

CHILDREN are an asset to the man who would make a home a necessity in life rather than a luxury. This fact is proven definitely in an analysis of the records of hundreds of men made recently by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company to determine the factors on which success in life can be predicted. Out of every hundred men with no dependents or with only one, it was found that 49 were unable to achieve anything worth while, while the remaining 49 were successful. But in examining the group of men with two or more dependents, it developed that the number of successes was 63 out of every hundred. The number of failures dropped to 37.

SCOUT NOTICE

Scout captains are asked to bring to staff meeting Monday evening reports for their entire period of organization up to the first of the year; i. e., number girls enrolled; number having passed tenderfoot test; number enrolled at headquarters in New York; date of first receiving troop number weekly meetings held; attendance at each meeting; name of lieutenant if any; report of special activities, such as parties, sales, etc. This report will be of great interest to many who are hopeful for the success of this movement so it is necessary to have it in promptly and accurately.

An appreciative letter has been received at headquarters to acknowledge the box sent to the children at Cresson.

It will hasten a much delayed matter if the members of the scout house committee meeting on Saturday morning will bring with them a list of the articles of furniture that their troop is expecting to contribute to the scout building. With this in hand a truck could be sent for them early in the week. If any scout has an obnoxious father with a truck available for an hour this service would be a valuable addition to the list of contributions.

Glass of Salts Cleans Kidneys

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that irritate the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.
- Drink lots of water - you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this: also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

One correspondent stated that the present session of the legislature started off so well that there is bound to be trouble ahead. So there is but why cross bridges? We should be content and joyful over the wonderful start made by the warring factions.

Mr. Pinchot showed rare good judgment in accepting the support of the regular Republican organization during his campaign against Mr. McSparran and he showed even better political judgment in his acceptance of Eyre and approval of Goodenough.

Furthermore, he insured the opening days of the session against strife of any type when he refused to put any obstruction in the path of State Chairman W. Harry Baker, whose talents and abilities are recognized by all factions.

Mr. Pinchot can profit by the experience and advice of Mr. Harry Baker and it is to be hoped that Mr. Pinchot will more fully avail himself of the services of this man, who knows more of the inner history of Capital Hill than any living man.

They make a wonderful team if they choose to work together.

If they have other plans the Pinchot administration is doomed.

Pinchot has ideals and ability. Ideals are dreams and ability is always limited.

Baker has knowledge and knowledge is power.

It was fortunate indeed that the Court looked into the matter and quite searchingly before handing down a decision in the suit brought to compel the County Treasurer to pay into the General Fund tax money collected from the citizens for the purpose of paying interest on road bonds.

It will be more fortunate when the citizens of this county take a greater interest in county affairs in general, not for the purpose of making us a county of busybodies prying into the petty things in our county business, but in order that we might come to a realization of the bigger facts, such as the amount of money, in dollars, that it requires to run the various departments of our county government, how much is required to pay interest on road loans, how much money we owe on the various bonds, and how much working capital we have.

As we understand the opinion of Judge Bell in the interest money proceedings it would have been quite possible for an average decision to have been made had a knowledge of the business affairs of the county not been had by the Court. It is quite plain that the money is needed in the fund for which was intended. No question but that money is needed to finish the bridge at Mahaffey, but robbing Peter to pay Paul is poor business procedure.

TO HELP COMBAT ILLITERACY

American Legion Auxiliary Called Upon by National Chairman to Aid in Educational Work.

Under the leadership of Mrs. J. E. Baird of Lincoln, Neb., thousands of members of the American Legion Auxiliary assisted the Legion in its American Education week program, December 3 to 9, inclusive. Mrs. Baird is chairman of the auxiliary's national American Education commission.

Appearing to the auxiliary's 200,000 members, Mrs. Baird made the following statement:

"We, who gave our sons, brothers and husbands to battle for the enlightenment of the world, are deeply interested in the Legion's efforts to combat illiteracy and ignorance which have been revealed as one of our principal sources of national danger."

"The war draft tests, showing that our men from twenty-one to thirty years of age were six per cent illiterate and the subsequent discovery that the United States stands eleventh among the great nations in point of literacy have alarmed the good women of this country and they are eager to remedy this deplorable state of affairs."

Mrs. Baird also pointed out that 22 per cent of those examined for the draft were found to be physically unfit and urged that the relatives of veterans assist the Legion in its program to install playgrounds and to establish facilities for physical exercise among school children.

Among the principal activities of the auxiliary women during American Education week was a campaign urging the importance of regular visits to the schools.

LEGION MAN TRAINS PIGEONS

Stuart Cohen of St. Paul, Minn., an Expert in Teaching the Feathered Messengers.

Training young pigeons is the hobby of Stuart W. Cohen, a member of the American Legion in St. Paul, Minn.

A pigeon lover since childhood, Cohen has been training the birds since 1910. His pupils have flown successfully at all distances up to 1,400 miles. A number of pigeons trained by Cohen are now assisting forest fire prevention work at a post established at Tower Minn.

Cohen sent a carrier pigeon to Virginia, Minn., recently, where a message was attached to it to return to St. Paul. Worn out, its tail drooping and its big feathers sagged, the pigeon came back to St. Paul. The message was gone. In place of the little packet was a severe scratch and wound. The feathers were singed and ruffled indicating it had encountered forest fires in the northern part of the state. Cohen estimated that the pigeon must have gone two or three hundred miles out of its course when the smoke of the forest fires confused its sense of direction.

Cohen spent most of his army service at Camp Forest, Ga.

MACNIDER AS BUCK PRIVATE

Former National Commander, Promises to Tell Buddies How It Feels to Be Back in Ranks.

Hanford MacNider, past national commander of the American Legion has promised to write an article in the near future for his Iowa buddies telling how it feels to be a buck private in the Legion ranks again.

"Reports that MacNider might locate in the East after his term as national commander expired were absolutely without foundation," the Iowa Legionnaire states. "He has returned to his old job at Mason City, Iowa and taken his place as a buck in the ranks of Clausen-Wooden post. That he will show up at Legion meetings here and there over the state from time to time is certain. He will be the same old 'Jack' MacNider, for Iowa is his home and his heart is here with his gang."

"MacNider may think he will continue to be a buck, but the service he has given this country is far too distinguished and he has impressed too many people with his caliber to long remain as a buck or private citizen. There are too many big jobs he can do better than any other man for him to long remain down here with us ordinary mortals."

Miss Lillian Moore has returned to the Maryland College for Women where she is teaching.

Muddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—open up and then just to keep them fit. 15c per box.

Why More People Are Joining Our 1923 Xmas Club

The books show that more people have joined our 1923 Xmas Club this year than had joined to a corresponding day last year. There are two reasons for this:

First,—They realize the need of money about the holiday time and recognize in the Christmas Fund a relief from the burden of holiday bills.

Second,—Every person really has a desire to save money. Many use the Christmas Fund as a systematic way of saving, and at the end of the saving period, transfer their savings to a regular savings account.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Miss Margaret Rhodes entertained a group of sixteen girl friends last Thursday evening at her home on West George street. The social event was given in honor of a house guest, Miss Katherine Myers, of Unionville, Pa. The guests were royally entertained and sent homeward after partaking of a delicate and refined luncheon.

Miss Sadie Rougeux, of Niagara Falls, is a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. Vincent DiPalma, Nantuxton. Mrs. Ed Shade and daughter, Miss May, of Clearfield, were also Sunday callers in the DiPalma home.

Miss Clara Passorelli, a trained nurse, who has been spending several weeks in the home of her parents, on North Filbert street, has gone back to Philadelphia to resume her duties on one of the hospitals of the Quaker City.

The Wiley coal mines seem to have no trouble in securing railroad cars in which to load the product for eastern markets. Monday and Tuesday something over four hundred tons of coal was shipped from these mines.

Mrs. Thomas Humphreys, an aged lady living near the Bloom bridge was reported yesterday as being ill with pneumonia.

Willard McNaull, West George street, was removed to the Clearfield hospital Tuesday afternoon, where it is said he will be operated on for appendicitis, although an effort will be put forth by the attending physician to avoid it if possible.

Frank Schively, son of Henry Schively, Nantuxton, who lives on the Wise farm near New Millport, is quite seriously ill from an attack of scarlet fever. His many Curwensville friends are hoping to hear of his speedy release from that treacherous malady.

I. Kantar took a day off from business worries yesterday and hid himself over the mountain range to the city of Altoona, for a general social commune with a host of friends over there.

George McCracken, working in the Henry Hile mine, met with quite a serious accident Tuesday afternoon. He was assisting in moving two cars of coal from the mine. One car left the rails, bumped into a prop and knocked it down, thereby causing the roof to fall. A section of the roof came down and caught McCracken before he could possibly get out of the way. He was completely covered by the debris. Henry Hile, who was present when the accident occurred, got the injured man from under the debris and, as he was being unconscious, Ernie Post brought McCracken to his home on the Lumber City road, and a physician was immediately summoned. He remained in a semi-conscious condition until this morning. Although no bones were broken, yet the flesh was lacerated and bruised. His full recovery is anticipated within a week or so.

Webb Karstetter's teamster had quite a mishap on Tuesday. He was coming from near New Millport having on a wagon a load of saw mill machinery, and while coasting down a hill the wagon became unruly and went over the embankment, scattering around in a promiscuous manner, without regard for human life, a broken conveyance. The driver made a lucky escape from serious injury coming clear with only a few bruises and bumps.

I. Kantar & Sons, who have proved progressive business men since coming to Curwensville, are continually branching out and within a few months will control a line of stores. The firm now has two stores in Curwensville, one in "Old Town" and the other day negotiated a room in the oil town of Bradford, Pa., and will put in an up-to-date store to be known as a $1.00 piece store. The new enterprise will open for business about March 1st.

James Maneval and wife, accompanied by Miss Laura London, left yesterday for Portsmouth, Va., where Mr. Maneval will join the navy with which he has been connected for the past two years. "Jim" will soon have spent sixteen years in Uncle Sam's flotilla and during his term of service has been twice around the world and visited many foreign ports. They will spend a few days with friends in Altoona before continuing on their journey South.

Mrs. M. D. Bennett and two sons, of Norwood, N. Y., who have been spending several weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wright, departed for their home yesterday, after a most pleasant holiday visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhodes and daughters journeyed over to Philipsburg last Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Rhodes' two brothers, Harry and Alonzo Ammerman.

Hugh Gallagher, for some years employed in the finishing tannery at this place, now residing at Erie, Pa., spent Sunday with his son, Edward Gallagher, on Bloomington avenue.

Master Glen Post, who has passed through his second siege of pneumonia this winter, is convalescing at his home on McLaughlin street.

Chas. Moss, of Pittsburg, Miss Pearl McMurray, of Clearfield, and J. C. Forsyth and family, also from the county seat, Sundayed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McLaughlin, of McLaughlin street.

Claude Bloom, manager of the Workman's store, who has been confined to his Meadow street home for the past ten days with quincy, is reported as considerably improved and will be out and ready for the business trade within the next week. Eddie Norris is substituting for him during his absence from the store.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Willard McNaull at their West George street home on Saturday, the 30th ultimo, a son. The shaver has had a name attached to him already, and is known as Al McNaull Jr.

Misses Fred and John McLaughlin, who have been attending school at Loreta, Cambria county since last fall, are home for the holiday vacation. They expect to return about the 8th. Both are sons of Frank McLaughlin.

There was a fair representation, both males and females at the American Legion rooms Tuesday evening. It was a joint session of both branches of the Legion. The Auxiliary membership of the Legion will act in conjunction with Joshua Earl Sipes post in the work that the post-members will be called on to perform. Refreshments were served here the gathering adjourned.

Fraternal Order

five without a competence in their old age. This undertaking came about in this wise. Early in 1921 subordinates and State agents began to pass resolutions in favor of old age pensions, and in August, 1921, the Grand Aerie unanimously endorsed the proposition. $30,000 was appropriated to defray the expenses of a year's educational campaign to inform and arouse public sentiment, and an old age pension commission of prominent members was appointed to conduct the propaganda.

"This commission at once entered upon an investigation of industrial conditions as affecting old age, especially the old age worker. It found that the high-powered, swift moving machinery of modern factories not only requires keen eyesight, steady nerve and skilled hands, but tends to impair all three so that the workman's efficiency is destroyed at a comparatively early age. It found, too, that civilized states throughout the world are wrestling with the problem how best to care for the worn-out veterans of their industrial armies.

"As a result of its painstaking investigation the commission was convinced in the conclusion previously reached by the several aeries, that the old age pension is the most effective and, on the whole, the least

expensive method of caring for the disabled toilers. Accordingly, it has by the preparation and distribution of literature and through clubs and public addresses, sought to create a public sentiment that will secure the enactment of laws providing old age pensions. This work has not reached a point where men and women of the industrial states can begin to rest assured that no poor house is awaiting them as the reward of what they have contributed in toil to the general prosperity, for Old Age Pensions are most certainly on the way. Thanks to the Eagles.

"The Eagles have one other patriotic record of which they are very proud, and which is bringing into the Order many thousands of the war veterans. They are proud of the fact that 45,000 of their members went into the military service of the country in the World War; and of the fact that the order led the way, even for the government, in providing adequately for the dependents of those who should lose their lives. Within ten days after our Country entered the war, the Board of Grand Trustees of the Eagles proposed a plan, which the Grand Aerie enacted into law, by which a Patriotic Fund of one and one-half million dollars was established, out of which gratuities of $1,000 each were to be paid to the dependents of those Eagles who should lay down their lives as the toll of that war.

At this date fourteen hundred such claims have been paid; and the fund still is functioning—as the service members die from the effect of their wounds or exposure. Several other societies followed the Eagle's first example, but the order of Eagles is the only one of them today that still continues such financial aid to ex-service men and their dependents.

"The Order is forward in many other less conspicuous but not less worthy good works. Never do the Aeries fail to distribute Christmas offerings and Thanksgiving bounties.

"Now, measuring the capabilities of any organization in these times, its financial condition must also be carefully considered. The impressive financial strength of the Eagles was demonstrated during the influenza years of 1918-19 when its sickness and funeral benefits ran into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Not one Aerie defaulted or even delayed in making the payments required. This, it will be found, is an enviable record.

"In short, the Fraternal Order of Eagles stands forth among the first in the land as a patriotic, community and individual service social welfare fraternity and institution. Its strength and beneficial activities are succinctly set forth in the following official report of the Grand Secretary of June 30, 1921.

A membership of approximately 500,000.
Real Estate value at $ 8,845,000
Invested funds to the amount of 5,227,000
Cash on Hand 2,134,000
Lodge furnishings and fittings 2,206,000
The assets of the benefit fund, used exclusively for the payment of sick and funeral benefits $4,181,000
The T. O. E. paid out from the date of its organization February 6, to June 30, 1921:

For Sick Benefits	$13,534,000
For funeral benefits	6,810,000
For medical services	6,810,000
Total	$27,154,000
Increase for the year ending June 30, 1922	42,169
In membership	$1,883,274.79
In net assets	$498,468.31
In value of property in the benefit fund	$498,468.31

With reason, can the Eagles extend its Nation-wide invitation—"Come with us and we will do you good."

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Ely's Sulphur to an itching, burning, broken out skin, the itching stops, healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, in a pleasant cold cream, gives a quick relief, even to very severe cases that nothing has ever been found to take its place.
Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the inflammation, cools the irritation and heals the skin right up, leaving a clear, smooth complexion in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

White and silver is the most fashionable combination for evening gowns. White ermine is the favored fur for evening wraps. Most of the wraps not of ermine are of black velvet trimmed with ermine. White velvet and ermine are used for hats. Black velvet hats are trimmed with ermine tails.

How To Forget TROUBLES

TROUBLES knock up your system like Jack Dempsey knocks down his opponent.

Troubles deal blows both in the head and stomach—and they hurt the stomach more than they do the head!

Troubles give the stomach indigestion, slow up the liver—and then follow constipation and biliousness.

The way to get rid of troubles is to invigorate digestion, stimulate liver and bowels and tone up the entire system. The best way to do this—has been for the past 50 years—is to take Becham's Pills.

Then you will feel so good that "troubles" become merely problems, to be solved readily by the clear, keen brain of health.

Do You Get Up Nights On Account Of Bladder?
This Symptom Tells You Something Is Wrong. A Dayton Man's Experience

Mr. John Lunkins, 7 Carrie St., Dayton, Ohio, says in his own home paper, "The Herald": "For two years I have been up fifteen to twenty times each night. The swelling and pain was awful. After taking a few doses of Lithiated Bacchu (Keller formula), the gravel came, until at least twenty-five times have passed. Some were as large as a bean. I am glad to have this way of getting my fellow sufferers about this great new remedy."
Lithiated Bacchu (Keller formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder like Epsom Salts on the bowels. It cleans them out and helps to relieve the bladder of abnormal deposits. The tablets cost 25 cents. This price makes it possible to place in the formula several expensive drugs, which are used for relief. The formula is on the package. It is the only one that has never taken anything similar. Try a few doses for backache, scalding, urinary or high-colored urine and frequent desire at night.
Be sure to get the Keller formula Lithiated Bacchu at Stewart's Drug Store and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsville, Ohio.

Who Took The Vial From The Box?

CHAPTER VIII

Like a man who feels himself suddenly seized by the throat, yet who struggles for life, Sinclair cast one heart-rending look toward the conservatory then heavily demanded:

"Why were you out of your room? Why did they have to look for you? And who was the person who uttered the scream?"

She confronted him sadly. "I was not in the room because I was troubled by my discovery. I think I had some idea of returning the box to the shelf from which I had taken it. At all events, I found myself on the little staircase in rear when that cry rang through the house. I do not know who uttered it; I only know that it did spring from my lips."

"It was your aunt!" he whispered. "It was she who took the vial out of the box; who put it to her own lips; who shrieked when she felt her vitals gripped. Had you stayed you would have known this. Can't you say so? Don't you think so? Why do you look at me with these incredulous eyes?"

"Because you must not believe a lie. Because you are too good a man to be sacrificed. It was a younger throat than my aunt's which gave utterance to that shriek. Mr. Sinclair, be advised; do not be married tomorrow!"

Meanwhile I was pacing the hall without in a delirium of suspense. Suddenly I heard a hoarse cry break from within and saw the door fly open and Dorothy came hurrying out. She shrank when she saw me and soon was up the stairs and out of sight. I rushed into the library. I found Sinclair sitting before a table with his head buried in his hands. In an instant I knew that our positions were again reversed. I dared not lay my hand on his shoulder.

He shuddered but did not look up, and it was minutes before he spoke. "It all came in a rush."

"You fool that I was! And I saw that she was consumed by fright the moment it became plain that I was intent upon having some conversation with Dorothy. Her fingers where they gripped my arm must have left marks behind them. But I saw only womanly nervousness where a man less blind would have detected guilt. Walter, I wish that the mere scent of this empty flask would kill. Then I should not have to reënter that conservatory door or look again in her face, or—"

I asked with all the calmness possible: "What is all this mystery? Why have your suspicions returned to Gilbertine?"

"Dorothy had the empty box; but the vial! the vial!—that had been taken by a previous hand. Do you remember the white silk train which Mr. Armstrong saw slipping from this room? I can not talk, Walter; my duty leads me there."

He pointed toward the conservatory. I sank into a chair. He advanced to the conservatory door.

But in another instant I was on my feet. I could hear him rushing about among palms. Presently I heard his voice shout out the wild cry:

"She is gone! I forgot there was another door communicating with the hall."

I entered where he stood gazing down at an empty seat. Never hall I forgot his face. To him this flight bore but one interpretation—guilt.

I found my way to my own room alone. I fell asleep very soon after, and did not waken till aroused by a knock at my door. On opening it I confronted Sinclair, looking haggard and unkempt. As he entered the first clear notes of the breakfast bell could be heard rising up from the lower hall.

"I have not slept," he said. "I have been walking the hall all night, listening by wells at her door. God forgive me, but I have said nothing to any one of what has made this affair a awful tragedy to me! Do you think I did wrong? I wanted to give Dorothy a chance. Why should I not show the same consideration to Gilbertine?"

"You should."

"I shall not go to breakfast," he now declares. "I have written this line to Gilbertine. Will you see that she gets it?"

Be sure, when you give it to her that she will have an opportunity of reading it alone. I shall request the use of one of the Pitt's options

rooms this morning. Let her come there if she is so impelled. She will find a friend as well as a judge."

I endeavored to express sympathy with patience and suggest hope. But he had no ear for words.

I found the lower hall alive with eager guests and a few outsiders. News of the sad event was slowly making its way through the avenue and some of the Armstrong's nearest neighbors had left their breakfast tables to hear the particulars.

Mr. Armstrong was nowhere in sight. For him the breakfast waiters remained near the staircase, waiting for some one to descend who could give me news concerning Miss Murray. But little Miss Lane would be sure to appear, she would listen to my questions and give me the answer I needed for the carrying out of Sinclair's wishes. But before her light footfall was heard, three men came down, one after the other followed by Miss Armstrong. Two of them were the physicians who had been called in the night.

As Mr. Armstrong ushered them down the hall and out of the front door, many were the curious glances which followed them.

This filled me with a vague alarm. I was closely watching the door because which Mr. Armstrong had vanished when it suddenly opened and I perceived that he had been writing.

As he gave it to one of the servants he made a gesture and the servant rang out for breakfast.

He and I turned toward the dining room, but the host did not enter with them. Before the younger of his guests could reach his side he had slid into the room which was set apart for the display of Gilbertine's wedding presents. Instantly I lost all inclination for breakfast and lingered about in the hall. Mr. Armstrong approached from the side hall and inquired if Mr. Sinclair had come down yet.

I assured him that I had not seen him and did not think he meant to come to breakfast, adding that I had been very much affected by the affairs of the night.

"I am sorry, but there is a question I must ask him immediately. It is about a little Italian trinket which I am told he displayed to the ladies yesterday afternoon."

(END CHAPTER VIII)

The Shabby Mind. Haven't you been in houses where lovely flowers stood all about and everything was spick and span but the library was strewn with paper and magazines of the trashiest description? Is it a good thing to have the furniture of the house the best that money can buy, and to turn the mind with silly and disreputable things in the way of reading? Better by far have a shabby house than a shabby mind. —Milwaukee Journal.

New York, Jan. 4.—"Cultivate your imagination and cure your diseases."

This was the advice of Emile Cote to an ill world, the famous Frenchman, whose slogan is "Every day, in every way, I am getting better and better," arriving here this afternoon on the White Star liner Majestic.

He told the fifty newspaper reporters who stormed his cabin that with the help of the imagination the world could cure itself of all ills.

"Imagination is far greater even than will power," he said. "If people would only imagine they are all right, they would end their troubles."

Missing Will Enable Correct Account of the
Casualties In Tragedy To Be Given Out

TEN AUTOMOBILES DROPPED THROUGH

Kelso, Wash., Jan. 4.—Eighty lives may have been lost when the Kelso bridge collapsed late yesterday, authorities stated today. It will be impossible to determine the exact casualties as there is no way of telling how many persons were on the bridge when the cable snapped and the great structure lurched into the turbulent waters of the Cowlitz River.

Witnesses agreed that the number on the bridge was approximately one hundred and fifty, although some thought higher.

Forty are known to have been rescued.

Kelso, Wash., Jan. 4.—Divers worked in the rushing waters of the Cowlitz River today to recover the bodies of eighty or more persons believed killed when the Kelso suspension bridge collapsed.

It is known to be missing eye witnesses declared at least four score more were either drowned or killed when the bridge buckled. No bodies had been recovered at first report this morning. Eight men were rescued and rushed to a hospital where they are reported in a serious condition.

Great fires burned on the banks and threw a weird light over the turbulent waters and the tangled timber of the bridge. Groups of men and women, carrying lanterns
for a mile or two below the bridge searching for bodies. Launches and river steamers worked with grappling hooks and dredges in an effort to recover bodies.

More than one hundred and fifty people were on the bridge when it collapsed. Ten or more automobiles were known to have gone down. The bridge crashed without warning as workers on the Longview Hotel were returning to their homes.

TURKEY MOBILIZES ALL ABLE-BODIED MEN FOR CONFLICT

Constantinople, Jan. 4.—Turkey today called to the colors all able-bodied men in the so-called liberated territories of the Near East.

The Ankara Government issued a mobilization decree. After waiting three days for word from Lausanne
as to the Allies' intention, the Kem-alists answered Greek mobilization and he British fleet movement with a war like gesture of their own.

With everything depending upon Lausanne, the conference there remained inactive, awaiting the Par-Premier parley-on-reparation.

Panama Canal Tonnage Breaks Record For Year. 2,814 Vessels Using It

Panama, Jan. 4.—Passage of 2,997 ship, through the Panama Canal in the calendar year 1922 established a new high record. In 1921 the best previous year, 2814 vessels used the waterway. Tolls collected in 1922 aggregated $12,573,407, so that, for the first time since the opening of the canal, the monthly average exceeded $1,000,000.

The net tonnage of commercial ships was approximately 12,085,000
tons, cargo carried approximately 13, 700,000 tons. The previous high water mark for tonnage was 11,137,511
and for cargo 11,599,214.

WONER ACT UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA

Fixation of Alcoholic Content and Penalty
Was Attacked in Cases
Sent to High Courts.

STRENGTHENS ACT

Philadelphia, Jan. 3.—The right of the Legislature to include in the prohibition enforcement law a clause automatically defining intoxicating liquors as "anything found and determined from time to time to be intoxicating by act of Congress, as least until the national law is changed, was upheld in an opinion written by Chief Justice Robert von Moses and handed down by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court today.

The decision was made in the case of William Alderman, who sentenced on conviction of possessing and transporting intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, attacking the constitutionality of certain sections of the Woner Act in an appeal from the judgment of the Superior Court which had affirmed the judgment of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford county.

Another section of the Woner Act, which imposes penalties, attacked by the appellant on the grounds that it provided for heavier penalties than those specified in the Volstead Act,
also was upheld by the court.

Argument For Validity

"If, by comparison with the Federal law, the ordained penalties were so manifestly inadequate as to be open to the charge that they really could not have been intended as deterrents, perhaps an argument would be against their validity but not where, as here, the state's punishments are even harsher than those fixed by Congress," wrote the Chief Justice, who referred to an opinion handed down by Chief Justice William Howard Taft of the United States Supreme Court.

In the appeal, the constitutionality
of the first section of the Woner act, which defines intoxicating liquors as "anything found and determined from time to time to be intoxicating by act of Congress
pursuant to, and in the enforcement of the Constitution of the United States" on the grounds that the section was an attempt to delegate to the Federal government power vested solely in the State Legislature and to write into the code

J. S. Hoyt, Prominent Farmer, Passed Away Suddenly Last Evening

J. Sumner Hoyt, one of the progressive and substantial farmers of Lawrence township, died suddenly at his residence on the Boynton farm near Wright's, about 7:30 o'- clock last evening. Mr. Hoyt was about the house and barn all day as usual but when he came into the house after feeding his stock for the evening complained of not feeling as well as usual.

He sat down to the table and ate his supper. At the conclusion of the meal he lay down on the sofa in the living room and about the time stated he was found by Mrs. Hoyt to be seriously ill and passed away before anything could be done for him.
His death was due to heart trouble.

J. S. Hoyt was a native of Lawrence township and had a wide acquaintance throughout the county.
He served as Steward at the County Home for a number of years and upon his retirement from that position about five or six years ago purchased the Boynton farm on the Pearfield-Curwenville highway and had since resided there. He was a fine man and his sudden taking away will be sincerely mourned by a wide circle of friends.

He was 66 years of age and is survived by his widow and large family of children. The funeral will be held from his late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FRATERNAL ORDER OF EAGLES WOULD REPLACE POOR HOUSE WITH PENSIONS FOR THE AGED AND THE WORN WORKER

Judge O'Donnell of Kansas
City Makes a Masterly Presentation of Eagles' Program
At Public Meeting.

REVIEWS F. O. E. HISTORY

Judge Thomas H. O'Donnell, of Kansas City, a big-framed, big-voiced, big man out of the big breezy west, talked to a couple of hundred interested men and women at the Globe Theatre last evening, under the auspices of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, on the great service to humanity already performed by this great American patriotic fraternity while outlining the program for the future which the more than 500,000
members have in mind.

Judge O'Donnell, a forceful speaker, is a typical Irishman, possessing all the outstanding characteristics of the old school Celtic orator, who wove his blarney, pathos and poetry
into his address with a master
tongue and kept the closest attention of his audience from opening sentence to the closing tribute to our town, her people and old Pennsylvania generally.

The speaker, who was one of the original members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and therefore familiar and exceptionally well informed as to every detail of its history, told of the idea from which it sprang and the many worth-while accomplishments in its efforts to make this old world a better place in which to live and said their aim and mission at this time was to make possible in this glorious country of ours an old age pension system, instead of the unhappy, unsatisfactory poor house plan as at present. Judge O'Donnell made many telling points in favor of the old age pension plan for taking care of the worker who had done his bit and been shelled by old Father Time when his working days were done.

A resume of Judge O'Donnell's history and achievements of the F. O. E.
will conclude this story.

The meeting at the Globe was presided over by Bro. John F. Short, of Pittsburg, Mo., who also introduced the speaker of the evening, an old acquaintance and friend.

The program was opened by an overture on the piano by Mrs. Joseph Turner. A male quartet consisting of Messrs. Joseph E. Phillips, Joseph Patrick and Harry Turner, also favored with several fine selections during the evening, while Joseph Turner
and the Misses Mohny, of East Eno, also sang very finely and were most generously encored.

The speech making was opened by State Deputy J. P. Daugherty, of De-Bois, who gave a very interesting minute talk on what the F. O. E. had accomplished, together with an acknowledgment as to their duty in the future.

The inclement weather interfered somewhat with the attendance at the meeting, but those present were well paid for their trouble.

Judge O'Donnell during his address gave the following facts and figures concerning the Eagles—
"The Fraternal Order of Eagles is now in its healthy, helpful existence to find itself stronger in numbers
than it has ever been in its history,
in its financial, status, stronger in
the good will of the communities which it strives to serve.

"It had its beginning in Seattle Washington, in a group of about a dozen men who had banded together for companionship and mutual helpfulness. That little group has since become what is known as the Mother Aerie, numbering today approximately 7,000 members. This human desire which held together the original group has become the inspiring motive of the half-million men who are now members of the Order.

"Patriotism led the founder of the fraternity to adopt the name,
"Eagles" after the "Proud Bird of Our Country." Naturally, the members in which the members gathered were named Aeries—that is, Eagles' nests. The complete organization consists of subordinate aeries, or local societies, State Aeries having geographical jurisdiction, and a grand aerie, which embraces the entire Order.

"Although membership is confined to men, the benefits of the Order
life of the fraternity are extended
in many ways to include the wives, mothers and children, and often the friends of members. It is the fathers, mothers, wives, children and sweethearts of the members, indeed, who often set the chief story
by the benefits and the recreations afforded in membership in the F. O. E.
A very important benefit is the sick benefits which keeps the wife away when the member is disabled
from working through illness or accident. If the member should die,
there is a substantial funeral benefit.
The fund from which these benefits are paid, by a law of the order is made absolutely inalienable for any other purpose.

These services the Eagles render to the member and his family individually. They have a further service which they render to the community.
They make it a practice to back actively any social welfare movement which it is seen would eventuate in benefit to society generally. The broader community service in which the Eagles takes keen pleasure has manifested itself to date in the actachment in all strong Eagle communities of mothers' pension laws, laws
providing for workmen's compensation for industrial disease and accident, and laws restricting child labor and establishing minimum wages and maximum hours for women and minors.

"The crowning achievement of this order in its role as social benefactor, however, bids fair to be the early adoption in the strong Eagle States of laws establishing pensions for those who have toiled their due and yet found themselves at sixty-

BANDITS WHO SHOT PAYMASTER DENNIS FINALLY CAPTURED

3 Witnesses to Hold-up and Movements of Men, Pick Them Out of Jail Line-up

PICKED FROM SIX

Pittsburg, Jan. 4.—James Burkiant of Fredericktown, Daniel Rastelli
of Avella and James Dugan of Besco
yesterday were identified as members of the gang of highwaymen which held up the pay car of the Pittsburg Coal Company December 23, shot and killed J. R. Dennis, a guard, and stole the $20,000 Christmas payroll.

The identification was made in Allegheny county jail by James Underwood, driver of the pay car; Anna Rabson, aged 13, of Beading, and John Housley of Woodville. They picked Burkiant, Rastelli and Dugan out of a group of men lined up in the jail office. Six other persons who saw the robbers were called into the office, but were unable to positively identify any of the three suspects.

Mr. Underwood was sure Dugan and Rastelli were among the robbers
but did not know Burkiant. Anna Rabson picked out Dugan and Rastelli as the men she saw waiting in an automobile in Beading road shortly before the holdup. Mr. Housley identified Burkiant as the driver of an automobile believed to have been the highwaymen's car, which was parked in Cedarhurst boulevard.

An attempt will be made today to identify an automobile owned by Bur-kiant, which is believed by the police to have been used in the escape
after the holdup. The car was brot here yesterday by state police from Fredericktown, where it was confiscated.

Pays Income Tax on Beauty

Maybell Griffen, Baltimore beauty, has been asked by the United States to pay an income tax on her beauty, according to news dispatches.
The income tax is being levied on a $500-beauty prize and a gown worth $1000 given to her by a Baltimore department store. She contends that the dress was a gift. Authorities say it was something earned by capitalized beauty.

Children Are Assets in Life, Insurance Statistics Prove

CHILDREN are an asset to the man who would make a home a necessity in life rather than a luxury. This fact is proven definitely in an analysis of the records of hundreds of men made recently by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company to determine the factors on which success in life can be predicted.
Out of every hundred men with no dependents or with only one,
it was found that 51 were unable to achieve anything worth while,
while the remaining 49 were successful. But in examining the group of men with two or more dependents, it developed that the number of successes was 63 out of every hundred. The number of failures dropped to 37.

SCOUT NOTICE

Scout captains are asked to bring to staff meeting Monday evening reports for their entire period of organization up to the first of the year; i. e., number girls enrolled; number having passed tenderfoot test; number enrolled at headquarters in New York; date of first receiving troop number weekly meetings held; attendance at each meeting; name of lieutenant if any; report of special activities, such as parties, sales, etc. This report will be of great interest to many who are hopeful for the success of this movement so it is necessary to have it in promptly and accurately.

An appreciative letter has been received at headquarters to acknowledge the box sent to the children at Cresson.

It will hasten a much delayed matter if the members of the scout house committee meeting on Saturday morning will bring with them a list of the articles of furniture that their troop is expecting to contribute to the scout building. With this in hand a truck could be sent for them early in the week. If any scout has an obliging father with a truck available for an hour this service would be a valuable addition to the list of contributions.

WILL WINTER AT ST. PETERSBURG

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lansberry, of "Bish-town" left today for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they will spend the coming three months.

Mr. Lansberry is one of Clearfield county's most successful business men and as he has been hustling along pretty lively the past two years and has a big program of new work mapped out for next summer he decided to take "time out" this winter for a little rest and recreation.

Many Victory Liberty Loan 4 1/2% Notes series A to F, which were called for payment on December 15th last, are still outstanding. They are not drawing interest, hence to avoid the loss of income, should be presented for payment at once. We shall be glad to attend to the collection of them free of charge; also, if desired, to suggest suitable reinvestment for the funds.

Glass of Salts Cleans Kidneys

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that irritate the kidney and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this: also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

One correspondent stated that the present session of the legislature started off so well that there is bound to be trouble ahead. So there is but why cross bridges? We should be content and joyful over the wonderful start made by the warring factions.

Mr. Pinchot showed rare good judgment in accepting the support of the regular Republican organization during his campaign against Mr. McSparran and he showed even better political judgment in his acceptance of Eyre and approval of Goodenough.

Furthermore, he insured the opening days of the session against strife of any type when he refused to put any obstruction in the path of State Chairman W. Harry Baker, whose talents and abilities are recognized by all factions.

Mr. Pinchot can profit by the experience and advice of Mr. Harry Baker and it is to be hoped that Mr. Pinchot will more fully avail himself of the services of this man, who knows more of the inner history of Capital Hill than any living man.

They make a wonderful team if they choose to work together.

If they have other plans the Pinchot administration is doomed.

Pinchot has ideals and ability. Ideals are dreams and ability is always limited.

Baker has knowledge and knowledge is power.

It was fortunate indeed that the Court looked into the matter and quite searchingly before handing down a decision in the suit brought to compel the County Treasurer to pay into the General Fund tax money collected from the citizens for the purpose of paying interest on road bonds.

It will be more fortunate when the citizens of this county take a greater interest in county affairs in general, not for the purpose of making us a county of busybodies prying into the petty things in our county business, but in order that we might come to a realization of the bigger facts, such as the amount of money, in dollars, that it requires to run the various departments of our county government, how much is required to pay interest on road loans, how much money we owe on the various bonds, and how much working capital we have.

As we understand the opinion of Judge Bell in the interest money proceedings it would have been quite possible for an average decision to have been made had a knowledge of the business affairs of the county not been had by the Court. It is quite plain that the money is needed in the fund for which was intended. No question but that money is needed to finish the bridge at Mahaffey, but robbing Peter to pay Paul is poor business procedure.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy to this department supplied by the American Legion News Service)

TO HELP COMBAT ILLITERACY

American Legion Auxiliary Called Upon by National Chairman to Aid in Educational Work.

Under the leadership of Mrs. J. E. Baird of Lincoln, Neb., thousands of members of the American Legion Auxiliary assisted the Legion in its American Education week program, December 3 to 9, inclusive. Mrs. Baird is chairman of the auxiliary's national American Education commission.

Appearing to the auxiliary's 200,000 members, Mrs. Baird made the following statement:

"We, who gave our sons, brothers and husbands to battle for the enlightenment of the world, are deeply interested in the Legion's efforts to combat illiteracy and ignorance which have been revealed as one of our principal sources of national danger."

"The war draft tests, showing that our men from twenty-one to thirty years of age were six per cent illiterate and the subsequent discovery that the United States stands eleventh among the great nations in point of literacy have alarmed the good women of this country and they are eager to remedy this deplorable state of affairs."

Mrs. Baird also pointed out that 22 per cent of those examined for the draft were found to be physically unfit and urged that the relatives of veterans assist the Legion in its program to install playgrounds and to establish facilities for physical exercise among school children.

Among the principal activities of the auxiliary women during American Education week was a campaign urging the importance of regular visits to the schools.

LEGION MAN TRAINS PIGEONS

Stuart Cohen of St. Paul, Minn., an Expert in Teaching the Feathered Messengers.

Training young pigeons is the hobby of Stuart W. Cohen, a member of the American Legion in St. Paul, Minn.

A pigeon lover since childhood, Cohen has been training the birds since 1910. His pupils have flown successfully at all distances up to 1,400 miles. A number of pigeons trained by Cohen are now assisting forest fire prevention work at a post established at Tower Minn.

Cohen sent a carrier pigeon to Virginia, Minn., recently, where a message was attached to it to return to St. Paul. Worn out, its tail drooping and its big feathers sagged, the pigeon came back to St. Paul. The message was gone. In place of the little packet was a severe scratch and wound. The feathers were singed and ruffled indicating it had encountered forest fires in the northern part of the state. Cohen estimated that the pigeon must have gone two or three hundred miles out of its course when the smoke of the forest fires confused its sense of direction.

Cohen spent most of his army service at Camp Forest, Ga.

MACNIDER AS BUCK PRIVATE

Former National Commander, Promised to Tell Buddies How It Feels to Be Back in Ranks.

Hanford MacNider, past national commander of the American Legion has promised to write an article in the near future for his Iowa buddies telling how it feels to be a buck private in the Legion ranks again.

"Reports that MacNider might locate in the East after his term as national commander expired were absolutely without foundation," the Iowa Legionnaire states. "He has returned to his old job at Mason City, Iowa and taken his place as a buck in the ranks of Clausen-Wooden post. That he will show up at Legion meetings here and there over the state from time to time is certain. He will be the same old 'Jack' MacNider, for Iowa is his home and his heart is here with his gang."

"MacNider may think he will continue to be a buck, but the service he has given this country is far too distinguished and he has impressed too many people with his caliber to long remain as a buck or private citizen. There are too many big jobs he can do better than any other man for him to long remain down here with us ordinary mortals."

Miss Lillian Moore has returned to the Maryland College for Women where she is teaching.

Muddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c per box.

Why More People Are Joining Our 1923 Xmas Club

The books show that more people have joined our 1923 Xmas Club this year than had joined to a corresponding day last year. There are two reasons for this:

First,—They realize the need of money about the holiday time and recognize in the Christmas Fund a relief from the burden of holiday bills.

Second,—Every person really has a desire to save money. Many use the Christmas Fund as a systematic way of saving, and at the end of the saving period, transfer their savings to a regular savings account.

You Can Start Tomorrow

Why not do it?

It will help make 1923 a Happy New Year.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Miss Margaret Rhodes entertained a group of sixteen girl friends last Thursday evening at her home on West George street. The social event was given in honor of a house guest, Miss Katherine Myers, of Unionville, Pa. The guests were royally entertained and sent homeward after partaking of a delicate and refined luncheon.

Miss Sadie Rougeux, of Niagara Falls, is a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. Vincent DiPalma, Nantuxton. Mrs. Ed Shade and daughter, Miss May, of Clearfield, were also Sunday callers in the DiPalma home.

Miss Clara Passorelli, a trained nurse, who has been spending several weeks in the home of her parents, on North Filbert street, has gone back to Philadelphia to resume her duties on one of the hospitals of the Quaker City.

The Wiley coal mines seem to have no trouble in securing railroad cars in which to load the product for eastern markets. Monday and Tuesday something over four hundred tons of coal was shipped from these mines.

Mrs. Thomas Humphreys, an aged lady living near the Bloom bridge was reported yesterday as being ill with pneumonia.

Willard McNaull, West George street, was removed to the Clearfield hospital Tuesday afternoon, where it is said he will be operated on for appendicitis, although an effort will be put forth by the attending physician to avoid it if possible.

Frank Schively, son of Henry Schively, Nantuxton, who lives on the Wise farm near New Millport, is quite seriously ill from an attack of scarlet fever. His many Curwensville friends are hoping to hear of his speedy release from that treacherous malady.

I. Kantar took a day off from business worries yesterday and hid himself over the mountain range to the city of Altoona, for a general social commune with a host of friends over there.

George McCracken, working in the Henry Hile mine, met with quite a serious accident Tuesday afternoon. He was assisting in moving two cars of coal from the mine. One car left the rails, bumped into a prop and knocked it down, thereby easing up the roof support. A section of the roof came down and caught McCracken before he could possibly get out of the way. He was completely covered by the debris. Henry Hile, who was present when the accident occurred, got the injured man from under the debris and, as he being unconscious, Ernie Post brought McCracken to his home on the Lumber City road and a physician was immediately summoned. He remained in a semi-conscious condition until this morning. Although no bones were broken, yet the flesh was lacerated and bruised. His full recovery is anticipated within a week or so.

Webb Karstetter's teamster had quite a mishap on Tuesday. He was coming from near New Millport having on a wagon a load of saw mill machinery, and while coasting down a hill the wagon became unruly and went over the embankment, scattering around in a promiscuous manner, without regard for human life, a broken conveyance. The driver made a lucky escape from serious injury coming clear with only a few bruises and bumps.

I. Kantar & Sons, who have proved progressive business men since coming to Curwensville, are continually branching out and within a few months will control a line of chain stores. The firm now has two stores in Curwensville, one in "Old Town" and the other day negotiated a room in the oil town of Bradford, Pa., and will put in an up-to-date store to be known as a $1.00 piece store. The new enterprise will open for business about March 1st.

James Maneval and wife, accompanied by Miss Laura London, left yesterday for Portsmouth, Va., where Mr. Maneval will join the navy with which he has been connected for the past two years. "Jim" will soon have spent sixteen years in Uncle Sam's flotilla and during his term of service has been twice around the world and visited many foreign ports. They will spend a few days with friends in Altoona before continuing on their journey South.

Mrs. M. D. Bennett and two sons, of Norwood, N. Y., who have been spending several weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wright, departed for their home yesterday, after a most pleasant holiday visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhodes and daughters journeyed over to Philipsburg last Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Rhodes' two brothers, Harry and Alonzo Ammerman.

Hugh Gallagher, for some years employed in the finishing tannery at this place, now residing at Erie, Pa., spent Sunday with his son, Edward Gallagher, on Bloomington avenue.

Master Glen Post, who has passed through his second siege of pneumonia this winter, is convalescing at his home on McLaughlin street.

Chas. Moss, of Pittsburg, Miss Pearl McMurray, of Clearfield, and J. C. Forsyth and family, also from the county seat, Sundayed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McLaughlin, of McLaughlin street.

Claude Bloom, manager of the Workman's store, who has been confined to his Meadow street home for the past ten days with quincy, is reported as considerably improved and will be out and ready for the business trade within the next week. Eddie Norris is substituting for him during his absence from the store.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Willard McNaull at their West George street home on Saturday, the 30th ultimo, a son. The shaver has had a name attached to him already, and is known as Al McNaull Jr.

Misses Fred and John McLaughlin, who have been attending school at Loreta, Cambria county since last fall, are home for the holiday vacation. They expect to return about the 8th. Both are sons of Frank McLaughlin.

There was a fair representation, both males and females at the American Legion rooms Tuesday evening. It was a joint session of both branches of the Legion. The Auxiliary membership of the Legion will act in conjunction with Joshua Earl Sipes post in the work that the post-members will be called on to perform. Refreshments were served here the gathering adjourned.

Mrs. Harvey Bigler and daughter, Elizabeth, of Clearfield, visited friends here on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Remsnyder and two children of Clarence spent the week end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Remsnyder.

Mrs. W. D. Walker and son Donald and niece Elizabeth Walker spent the week end with relatives at Barree.

Miss Erma Dixon of Wallacetown spent New Year's Day with her cousin Miss Wilma Bumbarger.

John Bryan of Gardner spent the week end with his boy friends here.

Mrs. Wm. Adams and Mrs. Wm. Baughman and Mrs. Samuel Stevens spent Tuesday at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Ross Livingston at Woodland.

Miss Oral Williams has returned to Altoona after spending the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Williams.

Ray Patton of Pittsburg visited his sister Mrs. Ross Eshelman a few days last week.

Mrs. Herb Albert who has been seriously ill is slowly improving.

Miss Pearl McGuire of Philipsburg spent Sunday with relatives here.

Fraternal Order

five without a competence in their old age. This undertaking came about in this wise. Early in 1921 subordinates and State agents began to pass resolutions in favor of old age pensions, and in August, 1921, the Grand Aerie unanimously endorsed the proposition. $30,000 was appropriated to defray the expenses of a year's educational campaign to inform and arouse public sentiment, and an old age pension commission of prominent members was appointed to conduct the propaganda.

"This commission at once entered upon an investigation of industrial conditions as affecting old age, especially the old age worker. It found that the high-powered, swift moving machinery of modern factories not only requires keen eyesight, steady nerve and skilled hands, but tends to impair all three so that the workman's efficiency is destroyed at a comparatively early age. It found, too, that civilized states throughout the world are wrestling with the problem how best to care for the worn-out veterans of their industrial armies.

"As a result of its painstaking investigation the commission was convinced in the conclusion previously reached by the several aeries, that the old age pension is the most effective and, on the whole, the least

expensive method of caring for the disabled toilers. Accordingly, it has by the preparation and distribution of literature and through clubs and public addresses, sought to create a public sentiment that will secure the enactment of laws providing old age pensions. This work has not reached a point where men and women of the industrial states can begin to rest assured that no poor house is awaiting them as the reward of what they have contributed in toil to the general prosperity, for Old Age Pensions are most certainly on the way. Thanks to the Eagles.

"The Eagles have one other patriotic record of which they are very proud, and which is bringing into the Order many thousands of the war veterans. They are proud of the fact that 45,000 of their members went into the military service of the country in the World War; and of the fact that the order led the way, even for the government, in providing adequately for the dependents of those who should lose their lives. Within ten days after our Country entered the war, the Board of Grand Trustees of the Eagles proposed a plan, which the Grand Aerie enacted into law, by which a Patriotic Fund of one and one-half million dollars was established, out of which gratuities of $1,000 each were to be paid to the dependents of those Eagles who should lay down their lives as the toll of that war. At this date fourteen hundred such claims have been paid; and the fund still is functioning—as the service members die from the effect of their wounds or exposure. Several other societies followed the Eagle's first example, but the order of Eagles is the only one of them today that still continues such financial aid to service men and their dependents.

"The Order is forward in many other less conspicuous but not less worthy good works. Never do the Aeries fail to distribute Christmas offerings and Thanksgiving bounties.

"Now, measuring the capabilities of any organization in these times, its financial condition must also be carefully considered. The impressive financial strength of the Eagles was demonstrated during the influenza years of 1918-19 when its sickness and funeral benefits ran into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Not one Aerie defaulted or even delayed in making the payments required. This, it will be found, is an enviable record.

"In short, the Fraternal Order of Eagles stands forth among the first in the land as a patriotic, community and individual service social welfare fraternity and institution. Its strength and beneficial activities are succinctly set forth in the following official report of the Grand Secretary of June 30, 1921.

Boys Cream Applied to Nose Relieves Head-Colds at Once

Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream to your nostrils and let it pass through every air passage of your soothing and healing the inflamed, raw mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, more hawking, snuffling, blowing, more headache, dizziness or stuffiness for breath. Ely's Cream Balm what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Ely's Sulphur to an itching, burning, broken out skin, the itching stops, healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, in a pleasant cold cream, gives a quick relief, even to very severe cases that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the inflammation, cools the irritation and heals the skin right up, leaving a clear, smooth complexion in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Ely's Meuthen-Sulphur at any drug store.

How To FORGET TROUBLES

TROUBLES knock up your system like Jack Dempsey knocks down his opponent.

Troubles deal blows both in the head and stomach—and they hurt the stomach more than they do the head!

Troubles give the stomach indigestion, slow up the liver—and then follow constipation and biliousness.

The way to get rid of troubles is to invigorate digestion, stimulate liver and bowels and tone up the entire system. The best way to do this—has been for the past 50 years—is to take Becham's Pills.

Then you will feel so good that "troubles" become merely problems, to be solved readily by the clear, keen brain of health.

Do You Get Up Nights On Account Of Bladder?
This Symptom Tells You Something Is Wrong. A Dayton Man's Experience
Mr. John Lunkins, 7 Carrie St., Dayton, Ohio, says in his own home paper, "The Herald": "For two years I have been up fifteen to twenty times each night. The swelling and pain was awful. After taking a few doses of Lithiated Bicarb. (Keller formula) the gravel came, until at least twenty-five times have passed. Some were as large as a bean. I am glad to have this way of getting my fellow sufferers about this great new remedy."
Lithiated Bicarb. (Keller formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder like Epsom Salts on the bowels. It cleans them out and helps to relieve the bladder of abnormal deposits. The tablets cost 25 cents. This price makes it possible to place in the formula several expensive drugs, which are used for gonorrhea, cystitis, etc. It is a powerful diuretic. The formula is on the package. It is the only one that does for backache, scalding, urinary or high-colored urine and frequent desire at night.
Be sure to get the Keller formula Lithiated Bicarb. at Stewart's Drug Store and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsville, Ohio.

Who Took The Vial From The Box?

CHAPTER VIII

Like a man who feels himself suddenly seized by the throat, yet who struggles for life, Sinclair cast one heart-rending look toward the conservatory then heavily demanded:

"Why were you out of your room? Why did they have to look for you? And who was the person who uttered the scream?"

She confronted him sadly. "I was not in the room because I was troubled by my discovery. I think I had some idea of returning the box to the shelf from which I had taken it. At all events, I found myself on the little staircase in rear when that cry rang through the house. I do not know who uttered it; I only know that it did spring from my lips."

"It was your aunt!" he whispered. "It was she who took the vial out of the box; who put it to her own lips; who shrieked when she felt her vitals gripped. Had you stayed you would have known this. Can't you say so? Don't you think so? Why do you look at me with these incredulous eyes?"

"Because you must not believe a lie. Because you are too good a man to be sacrificed. It was a younger throat than my aunt's which gave utterance to that shriek. Mr. Sinclair, be advised; do not be married tomorrow!"

Meanwhile I was pacing the hall without in a delirium of suspense. Suddenly I heard a hoarse cry break from within and saw the door fly open and Dorothy came hurrying out. She shrank when she saw me and soon was up the stairs and out of sight. I rushed into the library. I found Sinclair sitting before a table with his head buried in his hands. In an instant I knew that our positions were again reversed. I dared not lay my hand on his shoulder.

He shuddered but did not look up, and it was minutes before he spoke. "It all came in a rush."

"You fool that I was! And I saw that she was consumed by fright the moment it became plain that I was intent upon having some conversation with Dorothy. Her fingers where they gripped my arm must have left marks behind them. But I saw only womanly nervousness where a man less blind would have detected guilt. Walter, I wish that the mere scent of this empty flask would kill. Then I should not have to reënter that conservatory door or look again in her face, or—"

"Dorothy had the empty box; but the vial! the vial!—that had been taken by a previous hand. Do you remember the white silk train which Mr. Armstrong saw slipping from this room? I can not talk, Walter; my duty leads me there."

He pointed toward the conservatory. I sank into a chair. He advanced to the conservatory door.

But in another instant I was on my feet. I could hear him rushing about among palms. Presently I heard his voice shout out the wild cry:

"She is gone! I forgot there was another door communicating with the hall."

I entered where he stood gazing down at an empty seat. Never hall I forgot his face. To him this flight bore but one interpretation—guilt.

I found my way to my own room alone. I fell asleep very soon after, and did not waken till aroused by a knock at my door. On opening it I confronted Sinclair, looking haggard and unkempt. As he entered the first clear notes of the breakfast bell could be heard rising up from the lower hall.

"I have not slept," he said. "I have been walking the hall all night, listening by wells at her door. God forgive me, but I have said nothing to any one of what has made this affair a awful tragedy to me! Do you think I did wrong? I wanted to give Dorothy a chance. Why should I not show the same consideration to Gilbertine?"

"You should."

Be sure, when you give it to her that she will have an opportunity of reading it alone. I shall request the use of one of the Pitt's options

rooms this morning. Let her come there if she is so impelled. She will find a friend as well as a judge."

I endeavored to express sympathy with patience and suggest hope. But he had had no ear for words.

I found the lower hall alive with eager guests and a few outsiders. News of the sad event was slowly making its way through the avenue and some of the Armstrong's nearest neighbors had left their breakfast tables to hear the particulars.

Mr. Armstrong was nowhere in sight. For him the breakfast waiters remained near the staircase, waiting for some one to descend who could give me news concerning Miss Murray. But little Miss Lane would be sure to appear, she would listen to my questions and give me the answer I needed for the carrying out of Sinclair's wishes. But before her light footfall was heard, three men came down, one after the other followed by Miss Armstrong. Two of them were the physicians who had been called in the night.

As Mr. Armstrong ushered them down the hall and out of the front door, many were the curious glances which followed them.

This filled me with a vague alarm. I was closely watching the door because which Mr. Armstrong had vanished when it suddenly opened and I perceived that he had been writing.

As he gave it to one of the servants he made a gesture and the servant rang out for breakfast.

He and I turned toward the dining room, but the host did not enter with them. Before the younger of his guests could reach his side he had slid into the room which was set apart for the display of Gilbertine's wedding presents. Instantly I lost all inclination for breakfast and lingered about in the hall. Mr. Armstrong approached from the side hall and inquired if Mr. Sinclair had come down yet.

I assured him that I had not seen him and did not think he meant to come to breakfast, adding that I had been very much affected by the affairs of the night.

"I am sorry, but there is a question I must ask him immediately. It is about a little Italian trinket which I am told he displayed to the ladies yesterday afternoon."

The Shabby Mind
Haven't you been in houses where lovely flowers stood all about and everything was spick and span but the library was strewn with paper and magazines of the trashiest description? Is it a good thing to have the furniture of the house the best that money can buy, and to turn the mind with silly and disreputable things in the way of reading? Better by far have a shabby house than a shabby mind.—Milwaukee Journal

SAY DID THIS GUY EVER HAVE A BOIL?

New York, Jan. 4.—"Cultivate your imagination and cure your diseases."

This was the advice of Emile Coue to an ill world, the famous Frenchman, whose slogan is "Every day, in every way, I am getting better and better," arriving here this afternoon on the White Star liner Majestic.

He told the fifty newspaper reporters who stormed his cabin that with the help of the imagination the world could cure itself of all ills.

"Imagination is far greater even than will power," he said. "If people would only imagine they are all right, they would end their troubles."

A bog town just fell on a man at a factory and killed him," replied Mr. "An was he a friend of yours?" inquired Patrick. Gems of Truth.
The following striking sayings were uttered at a recent conference on church publicity: "The facts or the facts will get you." "A hearse is a poor vehicle in which to ride to church—why wait for it?"
